COURSE PRESENTER: HAROLD L. CROSSLEY, DDS, MS., Ph.D

ABOUT Dr. Crosley: HAROLD L. CROSSLEY, D.D.S., Ph.D., was awarded the MS degree (1970) and Doctorate degree (1972) in Pharmacology. He subsequently received his dental degree in 1980 from the University of Maryland Dental School in Baltimore. Dr. Crossley is a Professor Emeritus at the University of Maryland Dental School.

The insight which he gained between the classroom and his dental practice which he mentored on a part-time basis in the Dental School Intramural Faculty Practice provided a practical approach to understanding the pharmacology of drugs used in the dental office. Dr. Crossley has co-authored a number of articles and four books dealing with a variety of topics within the field of pharmacology. Other areas of expertise include the pharmacology of street drugs and chemical dependency.

COURSE DESCRIPTION: Your patients are living longer thanks to their medications but many of the physician-prescribed medications used by your patients have dental implications and side effects affecting your treatment plan. This brief presentation includes the indications, contraindications, and side effects of some of the most commonly prescribed medications. At the conclusion of this course, the attendees will know:

- Medications that could adversely interact with dental drugs.
- What oral side effects may be caused by these medications.
- Maximum doses for commonly prescribed pain medications.
- Antibiotic update for prophylaxis for joints and heart.
